

Janvi Patel listed in first ever Power Part Time list

Timewise Foundation has launched the first ever Power Part Time list and Halebury is delighted to announce its Chairwoman and Co-Founder, Janvi Patel was included on the list.

The Power Part Time list is a roll call of 50 top business people proved that it is possible to work part time without ‘trading down’ your skills. These successful individuals represent the best practice of UK employers who take a progressive approach flexible working.

Flexibility enables Janvi to focus on all aspects of her world: her three children, her career and her life, which involves partly living in LA. Janvi founded Halebury driven by a vision to create a flexible way of working for lawyers that benefited clients, accompanied by a philosophy of empowering people to drive their own careers.

The full list can be viewed at: <http://timewisefoundation.org.uk/our-work/power-part-time/2012-winners/>